Dear Judge McLaughlin,

My name is Natalia Gluschuk, and I am Andrew's sister-in-law. I am Associate Analyst at a credit rating agency Moody's Investors Service. I have known Andrew for nearly 12 years as a kind, generous and sincere person, a devoted and loving family member and a supportive and reliable friend. Throughout these years, I have gotten to know Andrew very well, and have always admired him for his high moral values and dedication to helping people, which has become a mission in his life.

Andrew is a great family man, to whom the happiness and well-being of his family and relatives has always been of high importance. During the time of my university studies, Andrew has welcomed me to live in his and Oksana's house, has helped me with studying, and was always a friend I could rely on. Over the years, Andrew has become the brother I never had. Having known Andrew for many years, I have observed numerous circumstances when a family member or a friend needed help, - Andrew would always be there for them, and, in fact, go out of his way to help, either professionally, financially or as a friend. He would always be there not only for his friends and family, but also for the acquaintances he barely knew or did not even know at all. Andrew is one of the most generous and helpful people I have met in my life, for which I respect and admire him greatly.

Andrew is a great father to his children. He loves his children and his wife dearly and has always placed them as the single most important priority in his life. Ever since the birth of his children, Andrew has been dedicated to taking care of them and raising them. Andrew is also a loyal, honest and very hard working person.

I kindly ask for your leniency when determining the length of the sentence for Andrew. It is priceless for the parents to see their children grow up, make first steps, start speaking, and develop their personalities. And knowing Andrew very well, I am confident, that raising his children and being there for them is the sole most important thing in the world for him and the most important thing he can give them. Andrew's wife needs him as husband, and his three children need him as father and provider. Your Honor, please be kind to take into consideration my opinion and allow for this family to be able to reunite and have a life together in the close future.

Thank you for your consideration!

Respectfully,

Natalia Gluschuk
